The vodka is filtered seven times of which three are through layers of semi precious crystals known as Herkimer diamonds. When American portrait and sculpture artist John Alexander had an idea for a brand of tequila that would be presented in a crystal skull, he decided that man to bring this concept to life was film legend Dan Aykroyd. However, while Aykroyd liked the the crystal skull aspect, he suggested that the duo instead make vodka with no additives in Newfoundland, Canada. | | |
