About Producer	What make s a TV Camera Operator and a Travel Agent want to set up a drinks brand. Well it started after a drink with friends, as these things usually do. We're well travelled and love our food and drink and realised that there wasn't a brand that was celebrating our beloved home town of Ulverston, so the morning after the night before, it still seemed like a good idea and Ulverston Gin was registered.
Allergen Statement	Wolftown Gin is made in the London Dry method, meaning all the ingredients are boiled together in a copper still and the resulting vapour is condensed and collected. As such, no allergens carry over through the distillation process and even wheat based gins are certified as safe for Coeliacs for example - however, the distillery does of course handle almonds, so whilst the risks are extremely low, if you are someone with an extreme nut allergy then you should probably avoid our gin.
